Answer Question 1 and ONE other question.

1 Study the sources carefully and then answer the questions which follow.

SOURCE A

A cartoon published in 1807. The caption reads 'This monster has been named vaccination; and his progressive havoc among the human race has been dreadful and most alarming. It is strange that this monster has found many worshippers.'

SOURCE B

Studies extending over eighteen years have convinced me that I was wrong in my estimate of the smallness of the Vaccination question compared with other Evils. Vaccination is forced upon every British Infant and I see it as a Monster, a Devourer of Nations. A Destroyer of the Honesty and Humanity of Medicine, which is made into a deeply-degraded Profession. It has a wicked influence on Parliament which enforces Contamination by Law, and prepares the way for the endless destruction of personal liberty. I now regard Vaccination as one of the greatest and deepest dangers.

From a letter to the Vaccination Inquirer, 1883. The Vaccination Inquirer was published by The National Anti-Vaccination League.

Answer Question 5 and ONE other question.

- 5 Study the sources carefully and then answer the questions which follow.

SOURCE A

It is proved beyond a doubt by the evidence from the witnesses who knew the actual condition of convicts best that most of the criminal population in this country are ignorant of the real suffering inflicted upon transported convicts and underestimate the severity of the punishment. Those convicts who write to their friends are generally persons who have been fortunate, and describe their experiences in flattering terms.

From a report by the British government, 1837.

Answer Question 9 and ONE other question.

9 Study the sources carefully and then answer the questions which follow.

SOURCE A

After the stormy weather of Queen Mary had blown over, it pleased God to send England a calm and quiet season, a clear and lovely sunshine as we enter into the gracious reign of good Queen Elizabeth. As she entered the city of London, she was welcomed enthusiastically by the people, as can be seen by the prayers, wishes, tender words and all other signs which showed wonderful earnest love of most obedient subjects towards their Queen.

An account of Elizabeth riding into London to claim the throne in 1558 by an English chronicler, published in 1577.

SOURCE B

This very woman has seized the Kingdom and monstrously and illegally seized the position of Supreme Head of the Church. We do declare Elizabeth to have incurred the sentence of excommunication. We declare her to be deprived of her pretended title to the kingdom. We command all and every noblemen, subjects and people not to obey her or her orders and laws.

From a Papal Bull issued in 1570.

SOURCE C

From what I understand, God has been pleased still to maintain some Catholics in this country, and I am told that many persons openly observe the religion, despite the punishments against it.

From a report by a Spanish spy in England to the King of Spain, 1578.

9 (a) Study Source A.
