MARKING INSTRUCTIONS

MARKING INSTRUCTIONS – FOR MARKING ON-SCREEN

- 1. Mark strictly to the mark scheme.
- 2. Marks awarded must relate directly to the marking criteria.
- 3. The schedule of dates is very important. It is essential that you meet the RM Assessor 50% and 100% deadlines. If you experience problems, you must contact your Team Leader (Supervisor) without delay.
- 4. If you are in any doubt about applying the mark scheme, consult your Team Leader by telephone or the messaging system, or by email.
- 5. Crossed Out, Rubric Error (Optional Questions) and Multiple Responses.

Crossed Out Responses

Where a candidate has crossed out a response and provided a clear alternative then the crossed out response is not marked. Where no alternative response has been provided, examiners may give candidates the benefit of the doubt and mark the crossed out response where legible.

Rubric Error Responses – Optional Questions

Where candidates have a choice of question across a whole paper or a whole section and have provided more answers than required, then all responses are marked and the highest mark allowable within the rubric is given. Enter a mark for each question answered into RM assessor, which will select the highest mark from those awarded (The underlying assumption is that the candidate has penalised themselves by attempting more questions than necessary in the time allowed.)

Multiple Choice Question Responses

When a multiple choice question has only a single, correct response and a candidate provides two responses (even if one of these responses is correct), then no mark should be awarded (as it is not possible to determine which was the first response selected by the candidate).

When a question requires candidates to select more than one option/multiple options, then local marking arrangements need to ensure consistency of approach.

Contradictory Responses

When a candidate provides contradictory responses, then no mark should be awarded, even if one of the answers is correct.

Short Answer Questions (requiring only a list by way of a response, usually worth only one mark per response)

Where candidates are required to provide a set number of short answer responses then only the set number of responses should be marked. The response space should be marked from left to right on each line and then line by line until the required number of responses have been considered. The remaining responses should not then be marked. Examiners will have to apply judgement as to whether a 'second response' on a line is a development of the 'first response', rather than a separate, discrete response. (The underlying assumption is that the candidate is attempting to hedge their bets and therefore getting undue benefit rather than engaging with the question and giving the most relevant/correct responses.)

Short Answer Questions (requiring a more developed response, worth two or more marks)

If the candidates are required to provide a description of, say, three items or factors and four items or factors are provided, then mark on a similar basis – that is downwards (as it is unlikely in this situation that a candidate will provide more than one response in each section of the response space.)

Longer Answer Questions (requiring a developed response)

Where candidates have provided two (or more) responses to a medium or high tariff question which only required a single (developed) response and not crossed out the first response, then only the first response should be marked. Examiners will need to apply professional judgement as to whether the second (or a subsequent) response is a 'new start' or simply a poorly expressed continuation of the first response.

- 6. Always check the additional pages (and additional objects if present) at the end of the response in case any answers have been continued there. If the candidate has continued an answer there then add a tick to confirm that the work has been seen. The 'link page' check box should be used on RM Assessor to link candidate responses in additional objects to the corresponding question number.
 - a. Where additional objects are present, all pages must contain an annotation, or RM Assessor will not allow you to submit the script. Where no response is given by a candidate on a whole page the 'BP' annotation must be applied.
 - b. Where generic answer booklets are used, all pages must contain an annotation, or RM Assessor will not allow you to submit the script.
 - Where no response is given by a candidate on a whole page the 'BP' annotation must be applied.
 - c. Where structured answer booklets are used, the 'BP' annotation must be applied to all pages where no response is given by a candidate.
- 7. Award No Response (NR) if:
 - there is nothing written in the answer space.

Award Zero '0' if:

• anything is written in the answer space and is not worthy of credit (this includes text and symbols).

Team Leaders must confirm the correct use of the NR button with their markers before live marking commences and should check this when reviewing scripts.

8. The comments box is used by your team leader to explain the marking of the practice responses. Please refer to these comments when checking your practice responses. Do not use the comments box for any other reason.

If you have any questions or comments for your team leader, use the phone, the messaging system, or e-mail.

- 9. For answers marked by levels of response:
 - a. To determine the level start at the highest level and work down until you reach the level that matches the answer
 - b. To determine the mark within the level, consider the following:

Descriptor	Award mark
On the borderline of this level and the one below	At bottom of level
Just enough achievement on balance for this level	Above bottom and either below middle or at middle of level (depending on number of marks available)
Meets the criteria but with some slight inconsistency	Above middle and either below top of level or at middle of level (depending on number of marks available)
Consistently meets the criteria for this level	At top of level

SUBJECT-SPECIFIC MARKING INSTRUCTIONS

Introduction

Your first task as an Examiner is to become thoroughly familiar with the material on which the examination depends. You should ensure that you have copies of these materials:

- the specification, especially the assessment objectives
- the question paper and its rubrics
- the mark scheme.

You should ensure also that you are familiar with the administrative procedures related to the marking process. These are set out in the OCR booklet Instructions for Examiners. If you are examining for the first time, please read carefully Appendix 5 Introduction to Script Marking: Notes for New Examiners. Please ask for help or guidance whenever you need it. Your first point of contact is your Team Leader.

Information and instructions for examiners

The practice scripts provide you with examples of the standard of each band. The marks awarded for these scripts will have been agreed by the Lead Marker and Team Leaders.

The specific task-related indicative content for each question will help you to understand how the band descriptors may be applied. However, this indicative content does not constitute the mark scheme: it is material that candidates might use, grouped according to each assessment objective tested by the question. It is hoped that candidates will respond to questions in a variety of ways. Rigid demands for 'what must be a good answer' would lead to a distorted assessment. Candidates' answers must be relevant to the question. Beware of prepared answers that do not show the candidate's thought and which have not been adapted to the thrust of the question. Beware also of answers where candidates attempt to reproduce interpretations and concepts that they have been taught but have only partially understood.

Using the Mark Scheme

Please study this Mark Scheme carefully. The Mark Scheme is an integral part of the process that begins with the setting of the question paper and ends with the awarding of grades. Question papers and Mark Schemes are developed in association with each other so that issues of differentiation and positive achievement can be addressed from the very start.

This Mark Scheme is a working document; it is not exhaustive; it does not provide 'correct' answers. The Mark Scheme can only provide 'best guesses' about how the question will work out, and it is subject to revision after we have looked at a wide range of scripts.

Please read carefully all the scripts in your allocation and make every effort to look positively for achievement throughout the ability range. Always be prepared to use the full range of marks.

Assessment Objectives

Two Assessment Objectives are being assessed in all questions:

AO1 (Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of religion and belief) and AO2 (Analyse and evaluate aspects of, and approaches to, religion and belief, including their significance, influence and study).

Responses are credited for AO1 for selection, detail and accuracy of the knowledge and understanding of religion and belief deployed.

Responses are credited for AO2 for how well the response addresses the question, for candidates using their knowledge and understanding to draw, express and support conclusions in relation to the question posed. Candidates will be assessed on the quality of the conclusions and points they argue and the clarity and success of their argument.

Levels of Response

Questions in this paper are marked using a levels of response grid, when using this grid examiners must use a best fit approach. Where there are both strengths and weaknesses in a particular response, particularly imbalanced responses in terms of the assessment objectives, examiners must carefully consider which level is the best fit for the performance.

Note that candidates can achieve different levels in each assessment objective, for example a Level 3 for AO1, and a Level 2 for AO2. To use these grids:

Ddetermine the level: start at the highest level and work down until you reach the level that matches the answer. Determine the mark within the level: consider the following:

Descriptor	Award mark
On the borderline of this level and the one	At bottom of level
below
Just enough achievement on balance for this	Above bottom and either below middle or at middle of level (depending on number of marks
level	available)
Meets the criteria but with some slight	Above middle and either below top of level or at middle of level (depending on number of marks
inconsistency	available)
Consistently meets the criteria for this level	At top of level

Please note that the Assessment Objectives being assessed are listed at the top of the mark scheme. Where a candidate does not address all of the Assessment Objective strands listed, the candidate cannot achieve the top level of response.

Assessment of Extended Response

The GCE General Conditions of Recognition state that:

GCE 5.1 In designing and setting the assessments for a GCE qualification which it makes available, or proposes to make available, and awarding organization must ensure that, taken together, those assessments include questions or tasks which allow Learners to -

a) provide extended responses

As such, the quality of extended responses are assessed in all questions. While marks are not specifically given for this, descriptors for extended responses can be found in the AO2 Levels of Response in italics.

Question	Indicative content	Marks	Guidance
	 Some candidates might argue that the historical Buddha is important to Buddhists because: 	(AO2 24)
	 he is an example for others to follow. For example, he was a morally prefect individual who held many, if not all of the virtues any human might aspire to hold, such as compassion, generosity, modesty and wisdom the Buddha gained enlightenment in his life time and so Buddhists hope for the same for themselves the historical Buddha set up the religion and the sangha and is therefore responsible for the existence of Buddhists and Buddhist teachings.
	 Some candidates might argue that the historical Buddha is not important to Buddhists because:
	 the Pali Canon was written 500 years after the Buddha's death so we do not know if it is true. Therefore, questioning the 'historical' Buddha's life and teaching there is no proof of his existence or life other than the sangha/ dhamma left behind, which could have been created by others. The Pali Canon certainly is not the work or words of just one person (although the Dhammapada is) the Buddha's life is too difficult to replicate and so of no use, the dhamma and sangha are more important than the Buddha as they have all the information needed to guide someone towards enlightenment the historical Buddha is just one aspect of the three bodies of the Buddha, the other two are still present and therefore of more use.
	Some candidates might combine these views and argue that:
	 the historical Buddha and his legacy are equally important to Buddhists the Three Refugees as a statement of faith show the importance of the Buddha's life although other aspects are also important the life of the Buddha is a good example even if it cannot be followed completely.

2	'Nibbana cannot be explained.' Discuss	40
	The following is a description of possible content only; all legitimate answers and approaches must be credited appropriately. Learners are expected to make use of scholarly views, academic approaches and sources of wisdom and authority to support their argument.
	The Levels of Response must be used in conjunction with the outlined indicative content. Weak, basic, satisfactory, good and very good responses will differentiate learners' skills at:
	 demonstrating knowledge and understanding of religion and belief in accordance with all relevant strands of AO1 indicated in the coverage grid and the analysis and evaluation of aspects of, and approaches to, religion and belief cause and significance of similarities and differences in belief, teaching and practices approaches to the study of religion and belief.
	AO1 Candidates may demonstrate knowledge and understanding through the use of some of the following materials:	(AO1 16) nibbana as 'no coming, no going, no staying, no deceasing, no uprising' Udana 8.1 nibbana is beyond what we would expect to see in samsara translations of the word nibbana. Some, suggest it translates as 'blowing out' or 'extinguishing'. This may be a reference to the Three Fires, and learners may show how this might be the case. The other translation is that is it detachment and this may be seen as detachment from craving nibbana was a topic left unanswered by the Buddha because he could not give simple answers to questions where those answers would lead to confusion in the 79th and 80th Questions of King Milinda, where the question again cannot be satisfactorily answered.
	AO2 Learners may demonstrate evaluation and analysis through the use of some of the following arguments.

	 Some candidates might argue that nibbana is too difficult to explain because: nibbana is incomprehensible if you are not enlightened. They might use the famous story of the turtle and the fish to illustrate this. The turtle tries to explain what dry land is like to the fish, who has no concept of 'dry' or 'land' it is not possible to say what nibbana is but it is possible to say what it is not (similar to the western concept of via negativa) there is also no direct translation of the word and many definitions are given by different Buddhists sects. Some candidates might argue that nibbana is not difficult to explain because: it is not difficult explain, just very difficult to grasp with an unenlightened mind. the Buddha could have explained it very clearly but without an understanding of enlightenment his followers could not possibly grasp what he was saying. the Zen concept of getting behind the language to understand the true nature of things	(AO2 24)

3	There are no significant differences between Soto and Rinzai Zen Buddhism. Discuss The following is a description of possible content only; all legitimate answers and approaches must be credited appropriately. Learners are expected to make use of scholarly views, academic approaches and sources of wisdom and authority to support their argument.	40	Candidates are not expected to write lengthy descriptions of both Soto and Rinzai Zen, but outlining key features which they later return to in a discussion about the differences would be credit

	AO1 Candidates may demonstrate knowledge and understanding through the use of some of the following materials:	(AO1 16)
	 Soto and Rinzai Zen Buddhism as two distinct developments of Buddhist thought each was started as a response to the Tendai School which dominated Japan at the time. This might include some biographical details of the founders Esai and Dogen the practices associated with Soto Zen, for example zazen and kinhin (sitting and walking meditations). the way in which enlightenment is perceived as a slow awakening by Soto Zen the practices associated with Rinzai Zen, for example koans and martial arts; and its views about satori and the way in which enlightenment can occur suddenly the nature of Zen Buddhism as a form of Mahayana Buddhism which focuses on the concept of sunyata/sunnata (emptiness). Both Rinzai and Soto show how empty language is, but from different perspectives.

Question	Indicative content	Marks	Guidance
	AO2 Candidates may demonstrate evaluation and analysis through the use of some of the following arguments.
	 Some candidates might argue that there are no significant differences between Rinzai and Soto Zen, because: 	(AO2 24) obvious areas of comparison are around meditative practices, and learners may compare zazen and koan meditation and show the similarities in aims and outcomes. o in both, the attitude towards enlightenment has similarities. o there are similarities between them in that they both are designed to get beyond the mental formulations of language that inhibit the path to enlightenment.
	 Some candidates might argue that there are significant differences between Rinzai and Soto Zen Buddhism because:
	 each form of Zen originates from a different school within Chinese Chan and these reflect the masters who taught them. original Chan masters like Ma-tsu and Shih-tou had different teaching methods and practices. This influenced later developments in Japan. Soto is closer to Bodhidharma's original wall gazing meditation and Rinzai practices are a corruption of this.
	Some candidates might combine these views and argue that:
	 the differences are a matter of emphasis rather than being significant. Candidates may point to the nature of language to support these views the idea that the variations within Zen are less than the variations between Zen and other traditions, and show that there are significant areas of commonality especially around the teaching on mindfulness the concept of upaya might be used to explain the different teachings and that this can be accommodated easily within both Zen Buddhism and Buddhism as a whole there are significant differences between the two traditions, but the differences are not important as the goal is the same.

Question	Indicative content	Marks	Guidance
4	Critically assess the view that social activism is an important part of Buddhist practice. The following is a description of possible content only; all legitimate answers and approaches must be credited appropriately. Learners are expected to make use of scholarly views, academic approaches and sources of wisdom and authority to support their argument.	40	For social activism candidates could reasonable read 'engaged Buddhism'. To be socially active one must be engaged and to be engaged one must be socially active.
	The Levels of Response must be used in conjunction with the outlined indicative content. Weak, basic, satisfactory, good and very good responses will differentiate learners' skills at:		Any other reasonable interpretation of the term could also be credit worthy.
	 demonstrating knowledge and understanding of religion and belief in accordance with all relevant strands of AO1 indicated in the coverage grid and the analysis and evaluation of aspects of, and approaches to, religion and belief cause and significance of similarities and differences in belief, teaching and practices approaches to the study of religion and belief.
	AO1 Candidates may demonstrate knowledge and understanding through the use of some of the following materials:	(AO1 16)
	 an explanation of the term 'social activism'; for example, an intentional action with the specific goal of bringing about some kind of positive social change. It consists of efforts to promote or direct social, political, economic, and environmental reform with the desire to make improvements in society a link between this definition and specific areas in which Buddhists are active, such as campaigns against war and injustice and in favour of environmental awareness and action social activism is already part of Buddhist teachings in the Eightfold Path, the Five Precepts and in the bodhisattva path. the Dalai Lama and Thich Nhat Hanh have become famous advocates for Buddhist social activism. A description might be given as to the areas in which they have been active an explanation might be given about what is meant by 'Buddhist practice'.

Question	Indicative content	Marks	Guidance
	This might include mediation as well as ethical conduct in all aspects of life, both of which help to develop wisdom. All of this may be inextricably linked to social activism.
	AO2 Candidates may demonstrate evaluation and analysis through the use of some of the following arguments.
	 Some candidates might argue that social activism is an important part of Buddhist practice because: 	(AO2 24)
	 the Buddha taught that service of others was the correct way to behave because it taught compassion and washed away past sins. the concept of compassion means that a Buddhist has to be socially active. Compassion is directed to reducing the suffering of all beings. This could be linked to the bodhisattva path, which suggests that a bodhisattva must not neglect the needs of beings who are suffering examples, such as the Sangha Metta project in Thailand, which actively helps those in the lay community with HIV/ Aids, might be used.
	 Some candidates might argue that social activism is not an important part of Buddhist practice because:
	 teachings on detachment may suggest that social activism is not part of Buddhist practice. the Sangamji Sutta from the Udana 1:8 to support this view as it shows a renunciant freeing himself from his ties of fatherhood and being a husband some social activism may not appear to be consistent with the Buddha's teachings for example, the 969 movement in Myanmar (Burma) which advocates violence against the Muslim minority in that country. This is social activism in that it is a volitional action to bring about a change in society and from their point of view the change will be positive. However, their actions do not seem to be compassionate nor are they consistent with the Buddha's teachings.

	 Some candidates might combine these views and ague that social activism is an important part of Buddhist practice but that it is equally important as other parts:
	 the teaching of the Buddha shows that all beings and events are interlinked (paticcasamupada or dependent origination within the Theravada tradition; sunyata/sunnata or emptiness in Mahayana) therefore, all Buddhists cannot but be concerned about social injustice, war and the environment because they are inextricably linked to it but no more so than concern for their own enlightenment or ethical conduct. the Dalai Lama teaches that to renounce the world means to give up your attachments to the world. It does not mean that you have to separate yourself from it.
